David,

Thanks for your email. McKesson is interested in participating, but we need to work out some logistics.

I will be attending the HDA conference in March and hope to see you or one of your colleagues there as well. Based upon some recent conversations I've had with some other company representatives, I was hoping that we could all get together for an informal discussion, outside of the event schedule, to share recent experiences with each other relative to the challenges we face and some of the things that we are doing or not doing when it comes to SOM, due diligence and diversion control. A couple of us did this last year on an ad hoc basis and I thought it was insightful and beneficial. Obviously we have to be sensitive to any discussions that could somehow be construed to be anti-competitive, so we would not discuss specific customers. The idea here is an informal conversation and healthy exchange of ideas, to the extent that folks are comfortable. There will be no notes taken, nor any production of formal reports. I've addressed this to those that I know who have a functional role at their respective companies that impacts some of the potential discussion topics. Obviously, there are folks out there with some of the other suppliers that I've not met, so please feel free to pass this message on to them. Based upon the response, I will be happy to set up a location/time for this discussion to take place. Thanks all.
